Daniel Bliss, esq. one of His Britannic Majesty's Counsellors for that Provenca, aged 68. He was a native of Concord, in this commonwealth, and was graduated at Harvard University, in the years 1760 and 1763. He was discreet and faithful in the various offices which Providence called him to fill, and has left numerous friends to lament his exit. ; A bio states: Daniel was appointed a commissary officer under Commissary-General Nathaniel DAy. As Assistant Commissary-General, he accompanied General John Burgoyne's army when it was defeated at Saratoga in October 1777.
Bliss	Joseph	Concord	Concord	NH?		Youngest brother of Daniel Bliss, many Index Cards not saved, one roll of Knox's American Regiment of Artillery dated December 27, 1776 lists him as a 2nd Lieutenant . The Bliss Tavern, one of several at Haverhill Corner, hosted large crowds attending the nearby Grafton County Court. Owned by Captain Joseph Bliss, it also drew business from its location at the terminus of the Coos Turnpike that led to Warren and points south. (Haverhill, NH) Some taverns offered larger accommodations. During sessions at the nearby Grafton County Court, the Bliss Tavern on the common in Haverhill was filled with crowds attending the court. Katharine Blaisdell, whose Book Five of Over the River and Through the Years, details many of the taverns of the area, and describes the lodging provided by Captain Joseph Bliss. "By furnishing each of the bedrooms with six beds, plus straw mattresses on the floor, and assigning 3 or 4 men to each bed, he could provide lodging for a hundred or more people."

James Colburn and Rebecca Wheeler, both of Concord, were married on July 27, 1779 by Reverend Ezra Ripley (BMD book page 242); James Colburn, BrigadierGeneral, husband of Rebecca Colburn died Oct 21, 1803 aged 46 [ch rec page 326 BMD book]; A son, James Smith Colburn was born March 22, 1780. An obituary notice in the Columbian Centinel October 29, 1803: We mentioned in a late obituary, the decease of Brigadier-General James Colburn at Concord. The internment of his remains was attended with military honors, on Monday last. The funeral escort was composed of a regiment of infantry, a troop of cavalry, and a company of artillery, commanded by Col. Edwards. The officers of the 3d division, with their Major-General, and suite, with the Sheriff of Middlesex, the Clergy and Magistrates of the vicinity Selectmen, &c. paid their respsects to the memory of an officer who merited and received the affection and esteem of his brethren; and of a citizen correct and irreproachable. Solemnity, decency, good order, and discipline characterized the proceeding; and reflected honor on the conductos of the ceremonies. During the procession minute guns were fired by a detachment of artillery, commanded by Capt. Smith. Not in MA Soldier & Sailor Books - (No Pension Found)

Price	James		Canada	Concord - undetermined location		From Mortuary Notice: "This gentleman was formerly a resident in Canada, where, at the dawn of the late Revolution, he signalized himself in facilitating the passage of the American troops into that province; and perhaps it will not be too much to say, that to his seasonable activity, exerted at the hazard of his own property, is to be ascribed(?), in no small degree, the success of our arms at St. Johns and Montreal. His services to his country, on this, as well as on other occasions, introduced him to the notice of many of the leading characters, who flourished at that period; among whom he was always received on terms of the most friendly intimacy. Having devoted a large portion of his time in traveling, he acquired a fund of information, which, with the aid of a strong understanding, a retentive memory, and social habits, rendered him a most excellent, desirable and entertaining companion. As through the whole course of his life, he enjoyed an uncommon flow of spirits, so these, in the last awful hour which was to terminate his existence, did not forsake him, but were manifested in a calm resignation to his fate; and retaining his senses undisturbed to his latest moment, in a philosophic fortitude, which would furnish a theme for the highest panegyric, should the same be displayed in a cardinal or a conqueror. His remains were deposited with decent solemnity in the grave yard at Concord, and at his own request without the ceremony of funeral parade.

Was a few months over the age of 16 on April 19th, Was in Lexington on April 19th as the British were retreating from Concord, "I was selected to take the Town's Ammunition from the Meeting House, and carry the same to Lexington, for the use of the Troops. On said day took a horse and light carriages and repaired to the meeting house taking the ammunition consisting of Powder, Balls, and Flints. In order that as many men might march in the ranks as possible a guard consisted of the minister of the town Rev Dr Cushing and his two deacons by the name of Brown who guarded me to Lexington. We arrived there about the time the British troops were retreating from Concord. We found our soldiers in a scattered state in the pastures and under walls. The venerable Dr Cushing exhorted and encouraged them to activity in the discharge of their duty. We continued delivering ammunition when called for until near night when we returned to Waltham, to a tavern kept by one Isaac Gleason where there was a great assemblage of people on account of the taking of four or five British soldiers some guns on that day, I think..."
