Subject: Letter in support of the application from the Trustees of the Concord Free Public Library for the installation of exterior storm windows on the Main Library building

To whom it may concern:

Actually, I am surprised to learn that the building did not already have storm windows, as this is an important feature of any energy saving and sustainability strategy, as well as a deterrent to deterioration of the wood window casings. Indeed, it is usually an investment that has a very short payback period.

As the Architect for the first addition to the Fowler Library in 1996, I was, and am, well aware of any historical implications, and I believe there are none.

Hoping this request is granted.

Sincerely,
David Holdorf
